The Market withdrawal to the Retail level of the above-identified product batches of Verapamil Hydrochloride Extended Release Tablets USP 120mg, 180mg, and 240mg has been initiated by Glenmark out of an abundance of precaution due to the root cause of out of specification results observed for Verapamil Hydrochloride Extended Release Tablets USP 180mg commercial annual stability batch # 19231304 (Expiry – March 2025) at long-term (25°C/60% RH) shelf life (23 Month) stability interval and commercial annual stability batch # 19231326 (Expiry – March 2025) at long-term (25°C/60% RH) shelf life (23 Month) stability interval is identified as “aging and lower viscosity” of sodium alginate excipient sourced from JRS vendor. The function of the excipient Sodium Alginate in the drug formulation is to control the drug release from the matrix tablets.

As an impact assessment, reserve samples of 11 batches of Verapamil Hydrochloride Extended Release Tablets USP 180mg, aging between 18 to 24 months, were tested for the test of Dissolution. Out of these 11 batches, three (3) batches comply with L1 stage criteria, and eight (8) batches comply with L2 stage criteria.

Based on the identified root cause of use of Sodium alginate sourced from JRS for manufacturing of Verapamil Hydrochloride Extended Release Tablets USP 120mg, 180mg, and 240mg batches, as an abundance of caution, Glenmark is initiating a market withdrawal of all the Verapamil Hydrochloride Extended Release Tablets USP batches manufactured with Sodium Alginate sourced from JRS that are within the shelf life.

The Health hazard assessment concluded that the potential risk associated with the observed OOS results is minimal and unlikely to have an impact on patient health and safety.

Please see details of product batches listed in the above table and refer enclosed product labels for ease in identifying the product.

Please examine your inventory, and if you have any inventory available for the batches specified in the above table, you should quarantine such product immediately and not dispense any further product from these lots.
