Glenmark is initiating a market withdrawal at the Retail level for the above-identified batches of Carvedilol Tablets USP 3.125mg, 6.25mg, 12.5mg, and 25mg due to 'N-Nitroso Carvedilol I' impurity results for three (3) batches were observed above FDA-recommended acceptable limit of NMT 4.0 ppm and two (2) batches between 3.5 ppm to 4.0 ppm at 9 month long-term (25°C/60% RH) stability interval. Glenmark is separately initiating a voluntary recall of five (5) batches of Carvedilol Tablets USP 3.125mg, 12.5mg, and 25mg that are within shelf life, and the results of these five (5) batches were observed above 3.5 ppm (FDA-recommended acceptable limit is NMT 4.0 ppm) at 9-month stability interval.

As an abundance of caution, Glenmark is initiating market withdrawal of above mentioned 82 batches of Carvedilol Tablets USP 3.125mg, 6.25mg, 12.5mg, and 25mg that are within shelf life and the results are complying with the FDA recommended acceptable limit of NMT 4.0 ppm.

Glenmark has implemented corrective actions to control the 'N-Nitroso Carvedilol I' Impurity in the drug product since December 2024. These corrective actions comprise a strategy to control the levels of Nitrosamine impurity, using excipients with low nitrite content in the formulation. The above batches subjected to market recall and withdrawal, were manufactured before the implementation of the control strategy (Formulation using low nitrite content excipients).

The Health hazard assessment concluded that Nitrosamines are common in water and foods, including cured and grilled meats, dairy products, and vegetables. These impurities may increase the risk of cancer if people are exposed to them above acceptable levels over long periods of time, but there is no immediate risk to patients taking the medication, and the probability of serious adverse health consequences is remote. Based upon the overall assessment, it is concluded that there is no clinically significant risk of health hazard due to consumption of the above-mentioned batches of Carvedilol Tablets USP.

Please see details of product batches listed in the above table and refer enclosed product labels for ease in identifying the product.

Please examine your inventory, and if you have any inventory available for the batches specified in the above table, you should quarantine such product immediately and not dispense any further product from these lots. Glenmark Pharmaceuticals Inc., USA initiated shipment of this product on 14 February, 2023.

In addition, if you are a wholesaler/ distributor, who has further distributed this product, please identify those retail customers and notify them at once of this Market Withdrawal. Your notification to your retail customers may be enhanced by including a copy of this market withdrawal notification letter. Again, this market withdrawal should be carried out to the retail
